Saratoga Billiard Saloon!

THE UNDERSIGNED, FORMERLY of the "Hotel de France," begs to inform his friends and the public generally that he has taken possession of the premises formerly occupied by the late proprietor, and has fitted up the same with billiard tables, and all the latest and most improved apparatus, and has engaged the services of a first-class billiard player, who will be ready to receive and accommodate all who may wish to patronize him. He also has a large and comfortable billiard room, and a first-class bar, and a first-class kitchen, and a first-class laundry, and a first-class stable, and a first-class carriage house, and a first-class office, and a first-class residence, and a first-class everything. He is now open for business, and is ready to receive and accommodate all who may wish to patronize him. DAILY DEMOCRAT.

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY

Harney, Hughes & Co.

READING MATTER OF EVERY PAGE.

SUNDAY NOV. 7, 1858.

Containing the following articles:

THE EDITOR OF THE JOURNAL is a great deal exercised about the President's proclamation announcing the election of Mr. Fremont.

He is not satisfied that the Democrat is getting rather old and worn out.

After all, down on the gulf have come chronic, and government has done nothing itself after a fair opportunity. It has written some very fine sentiments, but Central America is in the same condition. Besides these fillipants are pretty well demonstrated that they are lunatics.

They don't succeed in accomplishing the things they promise. On the other hand, the evil they do to mankind, and which have heretofore afforded no compensation for the mischief.

We are again this failure. The man who takes the responsibility of an experiment in filandering and accomplishing nothing but evil, must pay the penalty; and an expedition that promises nothing but trouble and disaster should be stopped.

At present, responsible governments have the affairs of Central America in hand and they cannot look at an intervention.

The measures of our government must not be thwarted by its citizens, or irresponsible parties from this country. Besides, these proclamations are all right. We never condemn a President for sustaining the law, but for going beyond it, and allowing others to perpetrate lawlessness on men who fell into their hands.

Fillmore, beyond the law in his action, and Mr. Buchanan did still worse in passing over the act of Spaulding, in his opinion of the will of Nicaragua to apprehend Walker. We don't hold these irresponsible governments accounted to any respect. The first count has a right to substitute something better.

The subject, however, is now in the hands of our government, and it would be improper to allow the interference of irresponsible parties.

The Southern Pacific Railroad.

Our readers are aware that a compromise has been effected between the new company and the old one, by which the owners of the road obtain their rights when the conditions are complied with. They will have ample means to prosecute the enterprise, if a little energy is used now. We have no apprehensions of failure, for what remains to be done is definitely fixed, and it is easily accomplished.

Let us have a full meeting here on the 25th, and of the right sort. Good work now is certainly being done, and the resources of the road are ample for its completion; and now that the attention of stockholders is directed to the subject, there is no danger of a repudiation of the management and the directors that have damaged the enterprise heretofore.

The construction of this road is the great enterprise of the age, and its simple means will renew the city's life. Nothing but the most thorough and honest management would have produced this temporary success.

It is plain that the vigilance of the public will prevent such evils hereafter.

The Paris Citizen makes itself merry over a meeting of the Democracy of Bourdon.

The speaker, depressed, he thought, and rather weary, began by saying that he was not a happy man. This Democracy, he said, was not a happy

man. This Democracy, he said, was not a happy

man. This Democracy, he said, was not a happy

man. This Democracy, he said, was not a happy

Ladies' Gossip.

"The sere, the yellow leaf," has come at last October, the most delightful of the twelve, has given way for chill November, bleak and uncomfortable. Now the city groans its labors, and the country lays aside its implements for the season of rest. Earth asserts her claims to a season of quiet, in which to gather new life and strength for the coming year.

The reason is at hand, too, when old and young will have an abundance of time, around the cheerful fire, to engage in reading, or music, or concentration—the time when our readers will look anxiously for the weekly appearance of our fair friends' gossip; and we hope they will not be disappointed. They have all had a long and arduous, and, no doubt, in fine trim for the winter campaign.

First in the list of returns is Molly. Molly is very much exercised over the unaccountable disappearance of John Gummy.

Mr. Editor: So poor John Gummy and dog

THE BRITISH CHASE.

From the New York Times, 4th Nov.

Shipwreck of a British Bark—Eight Lives

Lost.

The British bark Chase, of Shoreham, Captain Charles Chase, 341 tons register, sailed the 18th inst. from Shoreham, with a full cargo of timber, for New York, under the command of Captain Chase. The bark was driven back passed all well. The 21st the wind began to blow strong from the West. The 22nd the wind shifted suddenly to E. to N. E. E. noon, lat.
